

Kate serves as the Chief Compliance and Ethics Officer at the University of North Florida. Prior to joining UNF, she spent nine years at the University of Florida. During her tenure at UF, she oversaw Clery Act Compliance and later was named Deputy Chief Compliance Officer. While serving as Deputy Chief Compliance Officer, she oversaw the Ethics program for the university, specifically providing advice related to gifts, conflicts of interest, and the Florida Code of Ethics.

She is a double graduate of the University of North Florida, having earned her undergraduate and master's degree at UNF (2010, 2017). Kate has also been awarded the Certified Clery Compliance Officer (CCCO) and Certified Compliance and Ethics Professional (CCEP) designations.

Kate is an active parent volunteer at Jacksonville Classical Academy. She and her husband Brian, along with their children, are parishioners at St. Marks Episcopal Church.